A History Portfolio

A student created a portfolio about how travel and communication changed societies. She began with a research question rather than a list of famous people: How did networks connect communities, and whose experiences were left out of the usual accounts? She compared a map, a trade-route reading, and a translated historical account. Her notes separated quotations, paraphrases, and her own interpretations. When two accounts disagreed, she recorded their authors, purposes, and contexts instead of choosing the more dramatic version. The final presentation used a timeline but did not imply that every change happened everywhere at once. It included an argument supported by evidence and a section explaining limitations. The student concluded that a strong portfolio shows not only a polished product but also how the researcher checked and revised the work.

1. Using the supplied passage, write two organized paragraphs explaining its central message. Include two accurate details and explain how they support your response. (5 points)

2. Revise two sentences from your response. Explain one change that improves grammar, word choice, or clarity. (3 points)

3. Connect your writing to this module's Khan reading/grammar goals. Name two skills, show an example of each in your own writing, and explain your choices. (4 points)

W1 data: A fictional class compares water collection in two labeled trials using the same time interval. Trial A: 11 milliliters of water collected; Trial B: 19 milliliters of water collected. These are invented assessment data, not a claim about a real investigation.

W2 data: A fictional class compares water collection in two labeled trials using the same time interval. Trial A: 12 milliliters of water collected; Trial B: 20 milliliters of water collected. These are invented assessment data, not a claim about a real investigation.

W3 data: A fictional class compares water collection in two labeled trials using the same time interval. Trial A: 13 milliliters of water collected; Trial B: 21 milliliters of water collected. These are invented assessment data, not a claim about a real investigation.

W4 data: A fictional class compares water collection in two labeled trials using the same time interval. Trial A: 14 milliliters of water collected; Trial B: 22 milliliters of water collected. These are invented assessment data, not a claim about a real investigation.

1. Why frame a capstone around a focused question? (1 point)

2. Use W1 data. Which trial has the higher recorded value, and by how much? (2 points)

3. Plan a systems/cycles capstone. (3 points)

4. Why can a model be useful even when it is simplified? (1 point)

5. Use W2 data. Which trial has the higher recorded value, and by how much? (2 points)

6. Revise a model using new observations. (3 points)

7. What is one purpose of a lab report's methods section? (1 point)

8. Use W3 data. Which trial has the higher recorded value, and by how much? (2 points)

9. Draft a lab-report/CER outline. (3 points)

10. Why should a capstone include more than a final score? (1 point)

11. Use W4 data. Which trial has the higher recorded value, and by how much? (2 points)

12. Plan a science showcase summary. (3 points)

13. Choose one of the supplied data comparisons. Write a claim supported by those data, give the two values as evidence, and explain what further information would be needed for a causal explanation. (4 points)

Social Studies - 24 points

Score: _____ / 24

W1 background: New routes linked trade and migration, while conquest, exploitation, disease, and enslavement damaged communities. European accounts alone omit experiences of many people affected. This is an assessment background note written for this packet, not an actual historical primary-source quotation.

W2 background: Reason, rights, consent, limits on government, or debates about equality. Rights/equality claims often coexisted with exclusion and slavery. This is an assessment background note written for this packet, not an actual historical primary-source quotation.

W3 background: It comes from the relevant period/event or direct participants, depending on the question. Perspective, purpose, bias, and limited knowledge affect accounts. This is an assessment background note written for this packet, not an actual historical primary-source quotation.

W4 background: It selects events and scales, leaving out many experiences and connections. Evidence-based argument, source comparison, connections, and reflection. This is an assessment background note written for this packet, not an actual historical primary-source quotation.

1. Why did maritime exploration connect societies and also create harm? (1 point)

2. Why include Indigenous and African perspectives? (1 point)

3. Compare accounts of exploration/contact. (3 points)

4. What is one broad Enlightenment idea? (1 point)

5. Why compare ideals with actual practices? (1 point)

6. Analyze an Enlightenment ideal and contradiction. (3 points)

7. What makes an account a primary source for a historical question? (1 point)

8. Why is a primary source not automatically accurate or complete? (1 point)

9. Plan a primary-source seminar comparison. (3 points)

10. Why is a world-history timeline a model rather than a full history? (1 point)

11. What can a capstone show besides memorized dates? (1 point)

12. Plan a world-history capstone and timeline. (3 points)

13. Choose one background note. Describe an additional perspective or source that could improve it, and explain what it might reveal or challenge. (4 points)

Spanish model and vocabulary (cue support allowed)

Hola. Me llamo Ana. Me gusta leer.
Word bank: hola, el libro, la familia, la comida, hace sol, estudiar.

1. Week 1: Complete: Me ___ Ana. (1 point)

2. Week 2: Complete: Me ___ Ana. (1 point)

3. Week 3: Translate the country into Spanish. (1 point)

4. Week 4: Complete: Me ___ Ana. (1 point)

5. Read the supplied Spanish model. Give its meaning in English. (2 points)

6. Write one new correct sentence using vocabulary from this module. (2 points)

7. Oral task (teacher listens): Use 6-8 short statements or a 6-line exchange about this week/module topic. You may use the supplied vocabulary/model as a cue, but add your own relevant detail or question. (4 points)
