The Bridge Apprentice

In this original historical fiction, an apprentice watched an experienced builder inspect a Roman-style stone bridge. The apprentice wanted to remove the wooden supports as soon as the final stone was placed. "A finished appearance is not enough," the builder warned. He checked the arch and explained how its stones pressed against one another and transferred forces toward the supports. The apprentice grew impatient, but a cracked stone changed her mind. Together they replaced it and repeated the inspection. Later, the apprentice wrote that the delay had been the most important part of the work. The scene does not establish facts about a particular ancient builder; it uses an imagined conversation to explore patience and responsibility. Readers should distinguish the fictional characters from historical claims, such as the Romans' use of arches in engineering.
